Hospitals sign up nearly 11,000 new donors

More than 100 people joined the Donor Registry at this October drive at Battle Creek Health System. Pictured are ICU nurse Amy Kleinfelt and Erin McGreal-Miller, hospital development associate, Gift of Life.

Michigan's hospital donor drive is a model nationwide

Michigan hospitals have added just over 10,800 new names to the Michigan Organ Donor Registry so far this year as part of the statewide Donor Drive 2010 campaign.

The project is aimed at bolstering the pool of potential donors, and saving more lives as the waiting list continues to grow.

Hospitals have added so many names they've set the standard nationwide. Organ recovery organizations from other states are asking for advice from Gift of Life Michigan and its donor hospitals in hopes of building successful hospital donor registration campaigns.

"We're very proud of the work our hospitals have done with Donor Drive 2010. Their work will surely save lives," said Brittany Bogan of the Michigan Health & Hospital Association. "We're also thrilled to help other states do the same."

The 10,800 new registrations from hospitals vastly out pace the 3,800 names medical centers added to the Organ Donor Registry in 2009.
